Report of the Conway Police Court

FOR THE YEAR ENDING FEBRUARY 15, 1908

We respectfully submit the following :

Whole number of cases presented and passed upon was 73, classified as follows :

Assault,	4
Larceny,	2
Slander,	2
Keeping disorderly house,	1
Trustee process,	7
Violation of liquor laws,	18
Drunkenness,	38
	72

And one juvenile case, special docket, as required by law.

Our docket shows that but 7 of the arrests for drunkenness were from bona fide citizens of the town. The 2 cases for slander, that for keeping a disorderly house, and 10 of those for violation of the liquor laws, were against citizens of adjoining towns, which show that residents of Conway, who we believe are above the average for law abiding citizens, are responsible for but a small per cent. of the cases brought before the police court.

During the past year there has been paid to the County Treasurer the sum of $350, the amount received in fines for the illegal sale of intoxicating liquors.

Respectfully submitted,

J. L. GIBSON, Justice

H. B. FIFIELD, Special Justice

State of New Hampshire.

School Report

In our report for this fiscal year, we claim that there has been a general improvement in the schools throughout the school district. In some of our schools where there have been frequent changes of teachers, the best results have not been obtained, and such results cannot be obtained where a new teacher has to be secured every term, as has been in the case in one of our schools particularly. This condition is due largely to the low salaries paid the teachers in the rural schools. If a teacher makes a success of one of the rural schools she is sure of having a better opportunity offered her. One in which the location is more desirable, and a school paying more wages. The past year has been the first in the history of Teachers' Agencies when the demand has exceeded the supply. The Agencies were not able to supply enough teachers to meet the demand made upon them. Not only have the Board to contend with this condition, but there has been a general advance in wages paid the teachers. We feel that the School District of Conway needs just as good teachers as are available, but in order to hire this class we have got to pay them a larger yearly salary than heretofore. Such a salary as will keep them with us. We cannot expect a teacher to stay here for two or three dollars less per week than she can get elsewhere. A good teacher should be kept as long as that teacher does efficient work, because every change means a loss of time in the new teacher becoming familiar with the work, whereas the one who has been teaching can take up the work just where it was laid down the preceding term. Conway has as a whole a very efficient corps of teachers, but they cannot be retained at the present wages paid them. There have been some changes in the teaching corps during the last year, but we feel that the School District has not lost by securing Mrs. Ella F. Hasty in the Conway Center grammar school, and Miss Frances L. Southard in the primary at North Conway. Miss Marion E. Holmes as assistant at the North Conway grammar school has given excellent satisfaction.

The cost per week of maintaining the schools has increased this year in spite of every effort on the part of the Board to keep the expenses down. This is due to increased transportation charges and larger salaries paid some of the teachers. And for this reason, even though more State money was received, the Board was unable to lengthen the school year. In order to maintain the present standard of our schools a larger appropriation should be made to meet the increased running expenses. And the Board trusts that those interested in our schools will see that this is done. Again the incidental expenses have increased this year almost entirely by the expense incurred in securing teachers.

Our rural schools are becoming more of a problem than ever. It is impossible to get the same results in these schools that we get in the village schools, because we cannot get the same amount of interest aroused, and we cannot retain good teachers in this class of schools. A teacher who gets good results there is sure of a better opportunity elsewhere. The teachers use them as mere stepping stones to graded schools, because with that experience, no matter how much of it, they do not get the same standing they do from having taught in the graded school. Again, the cost per capita for maintenance is greater than in the village schools. This is an argument for concentration. The South Conway school and Echo Lake school are of this class, and it is recommended that these schools be discontinued later.

The North Conway grammar school graduated as its class of 1907: Raymond W. Pert, Etta M. Willey, Mildred G. Mudgett, Helen E. Ward, Una G. Willey, Anna B. Carter, Mary L. Munroe, Lucy E. Carter, and Harry D. Bunker. Class motto: "Conquering and still to conquer."

Conway grammar school graduated Gladys P. Knox, Frances E. Eastman, and Edith M. Keith. Motto: "Finem Respice."

Conway Center grammar school graduated Theresa S. McLoy, Esther I. Potter, Ruth M. Sawyer, Ralph W. Garland, George W. Towle, Howard C. Thoits, and Thomas S. Master-ton. Class motto: "No steps backward."

Redstone grammar school graduated Irene E. Miller and Willis T. Pengelly. Class motto: "Strive to excel."

The above list shows the additional number completing the course of study offered in our schools, the essays being of a high order for students of the tenth grade to have prepared. Several of these graduates have entered Fryeburg Academy or other preparatory schools.

SCHOOL FURNITURE.

The Board recommend that additional blackboards be placed in the grammar room of No. 8, and that new desks be placed in the same room. The desks there have been repaired until it is a waste of money to expend further repairs on them, and again there are not enough to seat the scholars there. These were removed from the other building and are in very bad shape. New seats are also needed in the Conway Center primary school, and two new teachers' desks are needed.

Through the efforts of Mrs. Ella F. Hasty and the scholars at Conway Center a piano has been installed in the grammar room at Conway Center.

REPAIRS.

Windows have been placed in the south end of the North Conway grammar school and intermediate rooms, making a decided improvement in the light of these rooms. The McMillan and No. 8 buildings were given two coats of paint and Conway Center building one, also the interior of No. 8 was gone over, thus placing these buildings in the best of condition. The tax payer will note that considerable has been expended for putting in of glass in the McMillan school. This is due to glass broken outside of school hours, and so far as the Board can ascertain, by those not attending school. The Board have made every effort to put a stop to this both by personal efforts and appeals to the proper authorities, but without avail.

The interior of Redstone and of South Conway school-houses need repairs, also some repairs are needed at the West Side school-house.

During the winter of 1906 and 1907, the furnace at the Center, which for some time had been doing service for only one room, gave out entirely and a stove was put into the grammar room. With the present scarcity of wood it is a matter of time when a new heating apparatus must be installed in this school house.

The State Superintendent of Public Instruction advised the Board this year that high school tuition was not to be paid out of the school fund, but that a special appropriation must be made for the same, so there will be about $100.00 due next June including what is now overdue. And besides there will be what may accrue the coming year. It will be necessary to make an appropriation to cover this liability. The school district is liable for the tuition of every student going out of this town to any high school or academy in this State not exceeding $40.00 per student. Now, so long as this may reach a large sum, and in fact would have at time recently in the past, if the majority of our students attending high schools had gone to high schools within the State and applied for this help, the Board are of the opinion that rather than to have to make these special appropriations from year to year, and to which the school district cannot set a limit, the school district had better appropriate a sufficient sum to establish and maintain a high school of its own. This will do away with any further liability for high school tuition.

We wish to sincerely thank each and every one who have in any way assisted us in making the schools what they are at the present time, and sincerely hope that this co-operation may continue to increase to that extent, that Conway schools will stand second to none.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR E. KENISON,
JOHN C. L. WOOD,
ABBIE M. D. BLOUIN,
School Board of Conway.

Report of Public Libraries.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN OF THE FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY AT CONWAY CENTER.

Nothing of especial interest has transpired at this Library during the year. No part of the appropriation for 1907 has come to us here. Upon our reading table have been found regularly: Ladies Home Journal, Womans Home Companion, Good Housekeeping, Mrs. J. E. Morrill generously continuing the subscription for the Outlook. In October Mrs. W. J. Comstock, from New Haven, Conn., a resident of the summer colony on the shores of Pequaket Lake, gave a year's subscription for St. Nicholas. Through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Petrie we have each month Success, and Miss Edna Thoits is giving us the Youth's Companion. These magazines are all eagerly sought for by the patrons of the Library.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Patterson of Boston, again showed their interest in us by adding to our collection seventeen new books.

Mrs. James E. Nesmith of Lowell, presented two books, and Mrs. W. J. Comstock gave money with which seven books have been added. From fines we have also added five books, thus making for the year an addition of thirty-one books. The patronage has been also increased, the following being a record of the book circulation for the year ending Dec. 31, 1907: 1691 fiction, 949 juvenile, 187 miscellaneous, a total of 2827.

We most heartily thank each and all who have contributed in any way to the prosperity of this little Library, feeling assured that the "bread thus cast upon the waters will return" many fold.

Very respectfully submitted,
ABBIE M. D. BLOUIN, Librarian.

REPORT OF LIBRARIAN OF CONWAY PUBLIC LI- BRARY AT CONWAY, N. H., FOR YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1907.

The work at the Library has been much the same as in previous years. 231 books have been added to the Library by the trustees from the Eastman fund; 9 books have been bought with fines, and 46 have been given by other friends of the Library. The total circulation for the year, was 5614: 3486 fiction, 1844 juvenile, the remainder divided among other classes.

From June 1, 1907, the Library has been open daily. The same friends of previous years have given books, magazines and papers to the Library. Among them are Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Kennett, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Clark, Mrs. H. B. Fifield, Mrs. E. A. Fifiell, Mrs. R. B. Shaw, Mrs. D. E. Pendexter, Mr. N. B. Macomber, Mr. Frank Seavey, Mrs. Susie Gordon, Mrs. P. H. Knowlton, Mrs. Arthur Richardson, Louise E. Hamblin, T. W. Silloway and Hon. C. A. Sulloway.

Through the kindness of the editor, The White Mountain Reporter is on the reading table; Mr. B. F. Clark provides The Mnnsey Magazine; Mrs. Orcutt, The Christian Science Sentinel; the daily papers, The Cosmopolitan, The Technical World, and The American Boy are provided from fines; The Delineator is given by Mrs. Mary Redlon.

We wish to extend our thanks to all for their kindly aid and interest.

LOUISE H. BATES, Librarian.

Note and Comment.

Gov. Floyd has been to Washington. While there he dined with President Roosevelt and talked over various questions including the political situation in this State. Of course, the governor knows it all. We wonder if he has yet learned the people of New Hampshire didn't want him for governor.

President Roosevelt's special message to Congress on Friday last was a good one, conveying sentiment quite characteristic of him. By this message, he has made further inroads to the hearts of the common people, the great majority of whom would be more than pleased to mark an x after his name again next November.

Now comes Governor Hughes of New York with a statement of what he as President favors. That it contains excellent material, and that he would make a worthy successor to our present worthy President, cannot be denied. It still further shows, we yet have men who possess the proper skill and ingenuity to run the affairs of this great country.

The Thaw Case.

Harry K. Thaw, the slayer of Stanford White in New York, in June, 1906, was on Saturday last acquitted on the ground of insanity and was ordered to the insane asylum for criminals.

It was one of the most peculiar cases in criminal history. As far as this paper is concerned Thaw will receive no sympathy. Regardless what sort of a man White was, or the "dens of vice" he may have kept, was no excuse for Thaw to take his life. What kind of a man has Thaw been? Judging from facts brought out during his trial he has been anything else but an upright character. If he should be obliged to tell his life, (and not permit his wife who is not, and never was more than nothing, to do the talking) how many "dens of vice" would it reveal he has visited and possibly how many young girl's lives has he ruined? We believe he is as bad as humanity can be and his vindication unwarranted.

What right has he to liberty? If the public is to be governed by the court's ruling, any man has gained practically the right to shoot another man when he gets real mad at him. We do not presume that Harry Thaw will ever afflict us by his presence, yet there are always plenty in every community to be a Harry Thaw, and on these grounds we affirm his practical acquittal is a bad precedent. Had he turned the pistol on his own brains (?) when he shoot White, he would have merited the applause of the civilized world.

Preservation of Piling against Marine Borers.

The length of service of piles in wharves and other marine structures is greatly shortened by the attack of marine borers, or shipworms. A method of protection, both efficient and cheap, is much needed the more so because the timbers best suited for piling are becoming very scarce and are increasing rapidly in price.

Marine borers are found as far north as Maine and Alaska, though they are more numerous and destructive in the warmer waters farther south. Since they require only a small exposed surface in order to gain entrance and completely destroy a pile, any effective means of preservation must protect the wood from high-water mark to a point in the mud below which the borers do not go.

A number of excellent methods have been devised for protecting piling by external coatings or sheathings, any of which, properly applied, will increase the life of the pile. Three factors which decrease their efficiency are the corroding action of salt water, the wash of the waves which injures and often breaks the casing, and the damages from floating timbers and debris. Thick iron cases resist damage from these sources for a long period, but they are very expensive.

The injection of preservatives through holes bored in the top of the pile, or near the mud line, has failed to secure a distribution sufficient to adequately protect the outer layers of wood. All soluble salts have also shown a tendency to leach out when exposed to salt water. Impregnation with creosote, a coal-tar product, has usually proved highly efficient with suitable kinds of timber properly prepared, when a sufficient quantity of good creosote is used.

The principal timbers used for piling are longleaf, shortleaf, and loblolly pine, and white and red oak on the Atlantic coast and Gulf of Mexico, and Douglas fir on the Pacific coast. Spruce, redwood, cedar, cypress, eucalyptus, and palmetto are used locally. All of these woods with the exception of palmetto are subject to damage by borers. Hardness is not a complete barrier to their attack, although boring is probably slow in dense woods. Southern pine and oak can be impregnated with creosote, and this promises to be one of the most efficient means of resisting the borers. It is probable that some of these timbers can be successfully treated by the open-tank process. However, if a very heavy absorption is desired, a treatment under pressure may be more efficient.

Circular 128, just issued by the Forest Service, gives a detailed description of the most important marine borers and their habits, together with a discussion of the different forms of mechanical devices in use for the protection of piling and of protection by chemical preservatives. This publication will be sent free upon application to the Forester, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Prof. Hart on the South.

The industrial and racial situation in the South was never more interesting and important than at the present day. Prof. Albert Bushnell Hart's series of articles on the South, therefore, in the Boston Evening Transcript, the first of which appeared Saturday, February 1st, will be a valuable addition to the literature now before the public on the subject. Those interested who want to follow the series, which will appear consecutively on Wednesdays and Saturdays following in six installments, may have them mailed at the regular subscription price, eighteen cents for the six issues.

Note and Comment.

While Aspiring President Taft was in Concord the first of the week on his "hunting after vote trip," he was the guest of Governor Floyd. This ought to be sufficient to eliminate any candidate's ambitions.

The Silified Spelling Board, backed by Andrew Carnegie and endorsed by President Roosevelt, have just sprung another list of seventy-five words on the public, which have been thoroughly reformed or deformed, most of them to such an extent that their friends would hardly recognize them. The list includes "ake" for "ache," "eg" for "egg," "det" for "debt," "foren" for "foreign," "lim" for "limb," "num" for "namb," "tung" for "tongue" "gost" for "ghost," and 67 other cracks at the dictionary. If this thing continues some of us will be forced to the conclusion that the "criminally wise" are "undesirable citizens." [Laconia Democrat.

If the pension bill which passed the house Monday is approved in its present form by the senate, the wrangle between President Roosevelt and the New Hampshire delegation over the appointment of a pension agent at Concord will be declared off, as the measure abolishes the fifteen or twenty pension agencies scattered over the country, and consolidates the entire business of paying pensions in the main office at Washington. The proposed change will effect a saving of about a quarter of a million dollars per year and would probably inconvenience nobody except the attaches of the pension agencies who would of course lose their positions. Method and Sanity in Legislation

"Overlegislation" is not infrequently the cry of special interests afraid of publicity and interference with dubious policies. It is also, however, a natural complaint in many instances from perfectly honest sources. It is notorious that much of our legislation, state and local, is crude, hasty and worthless, full of jokes and flaws, the product of impulse, sympathy, ignorance and so on. Scarcely any one will deny that more method is needed in legislation—more information as a basis for it and more skill and knowledge in framing it.

With this vital problem Ambassador Bryce dealt in his usual impartial and thoughtful way in an address which he delivered last week in New York. He pointed out some possible and immediately feasible means of improving the quality of legislation in democratic countries, though he realizes that intelligence and honesty in legislation presuppose profound changes in human nature and in politico-social relations.

Mr. Bryce would provide for the systematic collection and examination of materials for legislation—laws of other states and countries, reports, statistics, etc. He would have drafting departments in the legislatures to put bills into proper legal and verbal form. He would periodically revise and consolidate the statutes. He would carefully separate details of administration and leave them to executive departments, thus relieving legislatures of heavy and needless burdens that prevent due attention to matters really within their sphere. He would also provide for observation and periodical reports by appropriate bodies of the working of all "experimental measures." Too often a new law, secured after heroic effort, is almost entirely lost sight of by the public, whereas its actual effects are not only of scientific but practical importance in determining further action.

So far there is nothing radical about Mr. Bryce's suggestions. Indeed, as he gladly recognizes, some small beginnings have already been made along certain of the lines indicated—for instance, in gathering and analyzing data for legislation, in submitting bills to experts for technical judgments and in prohibiting special legislation where general acts are applicable.

In addition to these simple remedies Mr. Bryce recommends one that American will regard as decidedly "contentious." He would make some definite body responsible for the initiation and management of legislative projects. This implies a "responsible ministry" with a "government program." Under our system the parties and the party heads are generally responsible for legislative policies and concrete acts. [Mirror.

Recipe Mixed Often.

Some remarkable stories are being told about town and among the country people coming in of the simple home-made mixture curing Rheumatism and Kidney trouble. Here is the recipe and directions for taking: Mix by shaking well in a bottle one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon, three ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Take as a dose one teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime.

No change need be made in your usual diet, but drink plenty of good water.

This mixture, writes one author in a leading Philadelphia newspaper, has a peculiar tonic effect upon the kidneys; cleansing the clogged pores, of the eliminative tissues, forcing the kidneys to sift and strain from the blood the uric acid and other poisonous waste matter, overcoming Rheumatism, Bladder and Urinary troubles in a short while.

A New York druggist who has had hundreds of calls for these ingredients since the first announcement in the newspapers last October stated that the people who once try it "swear by it," especially those who have Urinary and Kidney trouble and suffer with Rheumatism.
